Silence

Chapter 1 by Reagan Henderson

Mya had only wanted silence in her life.

No noise, no nothing, just her.

She didn't want her family, her friends, no one. Just silence and to be alone.

Mya had three annoying siblings, Kat, Matt, and Luke.

Kat was the youngest in the family, she always wanted things her way.

If it was a game she wanted, she'd get it. Kat had long pink hair, and cat ears and tail. She had emerald green eyes. Tan skin, and she wore dresses everyday. Today she wore her lace green dress. Matt was the third oldest. Matt has, like, an anger issue. If he didn't get what he wanted he'd throw a tantrum and won't stop for more than an hour or two. He had brown shaggy hair and ocean blue eyes. Today he wore a black t-shirt with blue jeans, and red jordans. Luke, was the second oldest. Luke likes to think that he's the boss in the family. But it's usually me, because my dad is never home. Luke has black messy hair, and emerald green eyes. Today he wore a red t-shirt, black jacket, blue jeans with holes in them, and black jordans. As for me, i'm the oldest. I'm Mya, I have boy-length, blue and black hair. I have crystal blue eyes. Today I wore a black t-shirt and red hoodie, blue jeans with holes, and pocket chains, and black Nikes. But anyway, I

HAH! My family, hated my dad, Kat, Matt, and Luke, even myself. I actually wished I had never been born. I'm also suicidal.

Mya walked around her room looking for a rope or something. "Ah! There's one!" Mya exclaimed as she picked up the rope. Mya quietly opened her door and looked around to see if anyone was there.

No one opened their door.

Mya hurried across the hall and down the stairs. She went to the front door and opened it quietly and shut it behind her. She stood on her front porch and stood there looking for a tree. She had found the perfect tree.

Mya walked to the tree and climbed it to a high branch. She tied the rope on the branch tightly and made a loop at the other end. Mya made sure the ends were tight. "That should be good," Mya said and put the loop around her neck. Mya stood up on the thick branch and breathed slowly. "It's now or never," Mya said and jumped from the branch. The rope pulled on her when the rope couldn't go farther and the rope was choking her. Mya did nothing to stop it.

All she wanted was silence, death, anything.

Mya lay there hanging from the tree until Kat woke up to go to school. When Kat went out the front door already ready for school she caught a glimpse of Mya hanging from tree. Kat looked shocked at to what Mya was doing. Kat instantly grabbed her phone and dialed 999.

Dispatcher: "Hello, what's your emergency?" Kat: "M-My sister! S-she's hanging herself! I need help quick!" Dispatcher: "Ok, what's your address?" Kat: "78256, I live on Taylor street, in Weston." Dispatcher: "Ok, what's your name? How old are you?" Kat: "My name's Kat, I'm 8," Dispatcher: "Ok Kat, what's your sister's name?" Kat: "Her name's Mya, she's attempted this before, but it always failed." Dispatcher: "Ok, sweetie, we have help on the way, don't hang up OK? We have help sending on the way." Kat: "Ok, I won't hang up, thanks." Dispatcher: "Do you have any other siblings?" Kat: "Yes." Dispatcher: "What are their name's?" Kat: "Matt, and Luke. Those are my other siblings. They don't do suicide though." Dispatcher: "OK, Do you see any police and ambulances? Anything?" Kat: "Yes" Dispatcher: "OK, stay where you at and go meet them," Kat: "Ok, (Too Police) "Hey! I'm over here! My sister's hanging herself! Help! Now!" Dispatcher: "Good girl. I'm going to leave you now OK? I'm gonna leave you with the police."

Kat: "Ok, bye!" (Kat hangs up)
